Summer School at the University of Porto 2012

Since 2007 the U. Porto has offered several summer courses within the project Summer School at the U.Porto. In 2012, in June, July, August and September, a vast number of diverse courses will once again be available at the various faculties, covering a wide range of themes, and of different duration, covering multiple areas of knowledge and intended for different audiences, age groups and professional categories, national and international, and, in a special way, for our Former Students.

These training events, in Portuguese, English and Spanish, benefit from the research environment of the U.Porto, the pedagogical quality of its teachers and researchers, the structures and learning conditions in which we have invested, which together provide a highly stimulating and enriching experience.

The offer of summer courses for 2012 at the U.Porto is of great use for all those who seek to be continuously updated and prepared to meet the ongoing challenges of our society. They will provide participants with quality offers that meet the pleasure of knowledge and cultural enrichment.
